

One Kid. One River. One Planet.

How Stewardship and Small Actions Lead to Collective Change

Cash Daniels : The Conservation Kid

“ Be a good steward of creation.”

The Moment That Changed EVERYTHING

I didn't have a plan...

No Plan

No Title

No Permission

The First Cleanups

Consistency Changes Everything

1 Cleanup

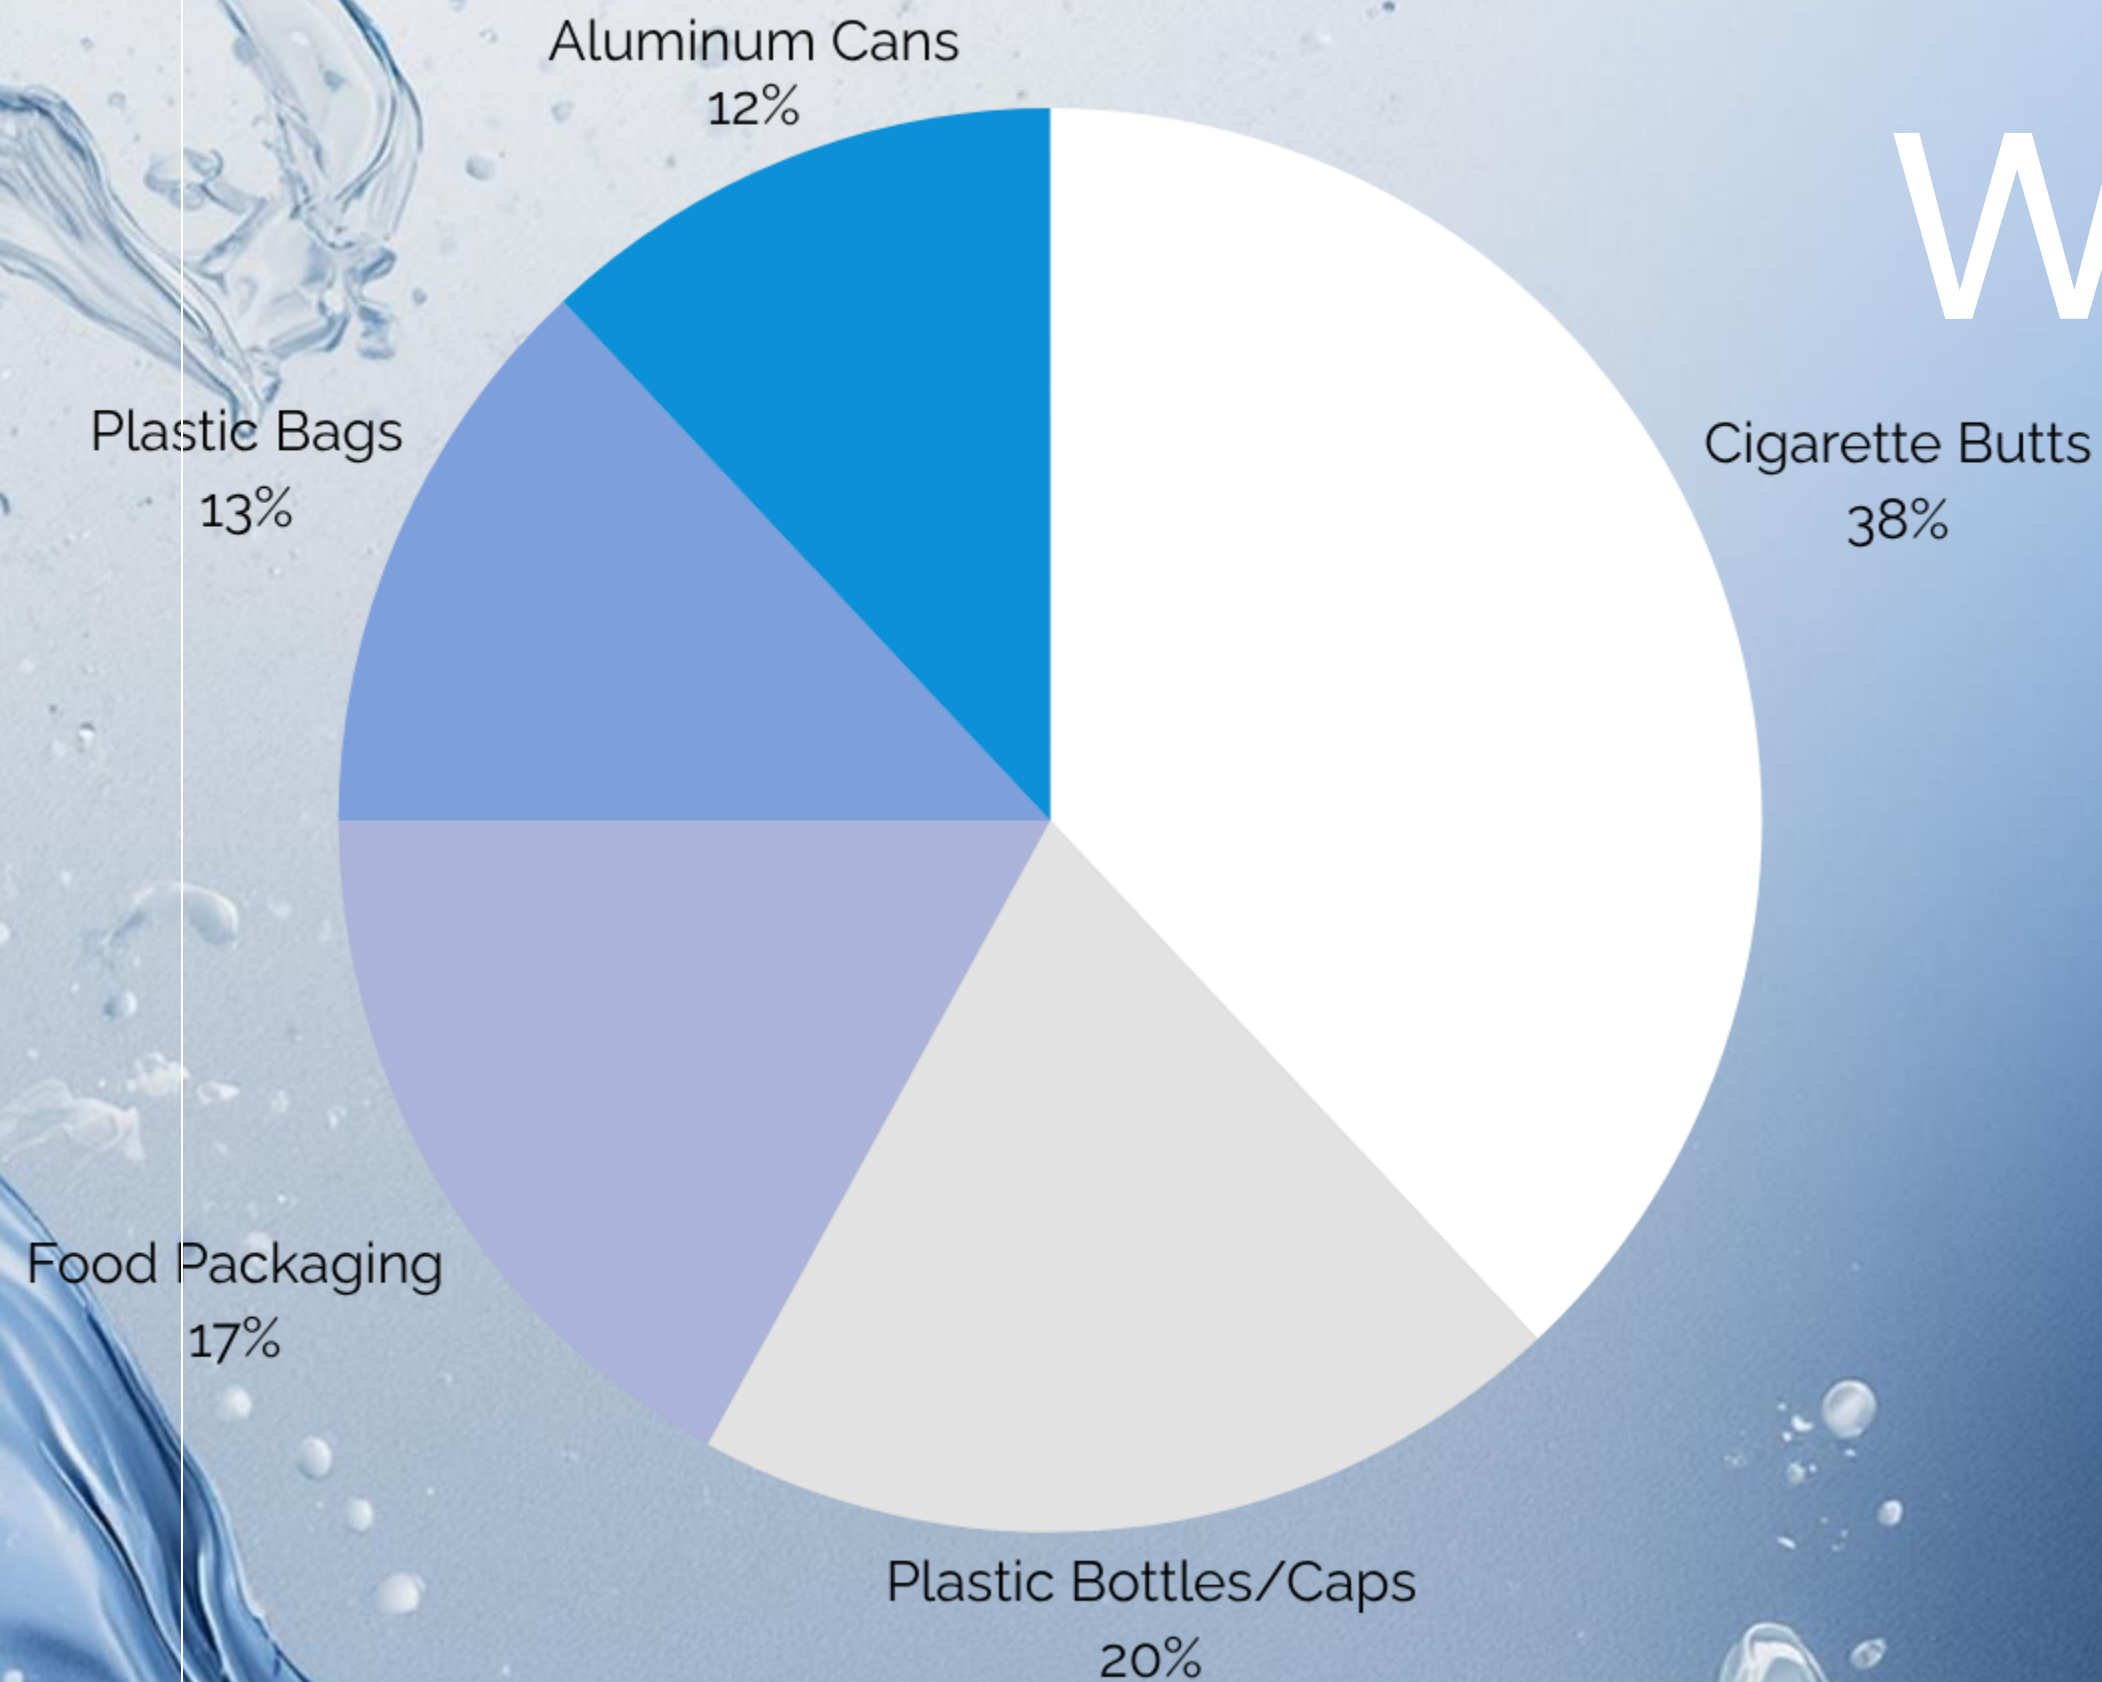

10 Cleanups

100 Cleanups

50,000
POUNDS

What I find –

- Cigarette butts (38%)
- Plastic bottles & caps (20%)
- Food packaging (17%)
- Plastic bags (13%)
- Aluminum cans (12%)

Where does all the weight come from?

Microplastics: The problem you can't see

This Isn't Just an Environmental Issue:

Microplastics have been found in:

Human Blood

Newborn Babies

Being a Good Steward of Creation was at the Heart of Everything I did.

The Problem I Kept Finding

So I Came Up With a Solution

From One Bin to a Statewide Program

When One Community Inspires Another

- 01 Michigan
- 02 Florida
- 03 Georgia
- 04 Pennsylvania
- 05 Hawaii
- 06 South Carolina
- 07 North Carolina

Making It Sustainable

This Work
Opened Doors
I Never Imagined

From Rivers to the Ocean

Meeting the Ocean Up Close

Passion gets rewarded.

Science In Action

What All of This Taught Me.

Leadership looks different than I thought it would.

Lesson #1: You Don't Have to Wait

Stewardship Starts Now

Lesson #2: Action Builds Credibility

Results speak volumes.

Lesson #3: Young Voices Belong at the Table

Start Where You Are

1

Place

1

Problem

1

Action

What leaves the biggest mark?

Not your footprints,
but your impact.

Drop me a line:

Email

TheConservationKid@gmail.com

Cash@WildEarthDefenders.org

Social media

IG: TheConservationKid

IG: WildEarthDefenders

FB: The Conservation Kid

